GOSSIP IN WASHINGTON

Letter from the Federal Capital.

LILUOKALANI'S PLANS

News Notes Picked Up by a Close Observer of the Passing Show.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (By mail).—Lilukalani is still keeping house in this city and is quietly entertaining her Hawaiian friends and visitors. The malady from which she is suffering makes slow progress and this inclines her to return to her Honolulu home as soon as possible. It is not unlikely that she will leave Washington after the holidays, taking the Southern route to San Francisco and arriving at home about February 1st.

Roberts the Mormon.

"Which is Roberts?" and "Do you know which gallery Miss Roberts is in?" were questions asked by nearly every woman who occupied a seat in the gallery of the House during the first two days of the session of Congress. Admission was by card, and never were there so many women in the House gallery before, and every one of them had a personal interest in the Roberts case. An amusing thing about the affair was that until Roberts spoke in his own behalf, Senator Prithard, of North Carolina, who was on the floor of the House both days, after the adjournment of the Senate, who is enough like Roberts to be his twin brother, was pointed out as the husband of three wives about as often as Roberts was, and if he doesn't have some of his hair cut off he is likely to keep on being pointed out as Roberts until public interest dies out. Miss Roberts, who is a handsome young woman, and devoted to her father and his interests, occupied a seat in the members' gallery both days, but as she was known to very few she suffered no annoyance. Mr. Roberts is a good talker, but the best talker on earth could not save his seat, which has been demanded by the women of the country—what the women of this country demand they always get.

Our Senators.

By unanimous consent the Hon. Chauncey M. Depew has been declared to be the most self-satisfied man, in appearance, in the Senate. He looks as happy as a kid with his Christmas tree, and he beams upon everybody with a gorgeous smile that would make the fortune of a gold-brick artist. Owing to the location of their seats, a facetious newspaper man has dubbed Senator Depew and his grim-looking colleague, Senator Platt, of New York, "the end men of the Senate." Senator Depew enjoys another distinction—he has the longest biography in the new Congressional directory.

He is a Duke.

The only genuine lord in the business of news-gathering in this country—the Duke of Manchester, who is reputed to draw $2,000 a month as a member of the staff of one of the yellowest of the yellow journals of New York—was in Washington this week, to write some "pieces" for his paper about Congress. He looks as though he were a little bit ashamed of trafficking on his title, but the men who draw less money but know a heap more tried to make him feel that it was the man who paid him that ought to be ashamed. The young man appears to go on the principle that everybody knows who he is, since he only writes one word upon the register of the hotel he patronizes—"Manchester."

A Coming Event.

Colonel Francis Michler, one of the most popular officers on the staff of General Miles, who is also a member of the Metropolitan and Chevy Chase Clubs, is receiving congratulations on the announcement of his engagement to Miss Marion Lowry, daughter of the late Commodore Lowry, one of the proudest and most popular girls in the army and navy set. The wedding will be in January.

A Congressional Detective.

Representative Thomas, of Iowa, believes in every man being his own thief-catcher, and when one of the light-fingered fraternity snatched a valuable diamond stud from his shirt-front, as he was leaving the Capitol, in a crowd, Mr. Thomas put his belief into practice by chasing and catching the thief and compelling him to return the diamond.

Dewey's Pew.

The Deweys went over to New York this week, but before going the Admiral did something to furnish the foundation for the regular weekly batch of Dewey gossip. That was to take a pew in St. John's Episcopal Church, not in St. Paul's Catholic Church, of which his wife is a member, as the first report had it. Admiral Dewey was, during his last service in Washington, a regular attendant at St. John's P. E. Church, and was for a time one of its officers, and it was in that church that he attended his first service after his return to Washington only a few weeks ago.

The Speaker's Family.

Mrs. Henderson and Miss Belle Henderson, wife and daughter of Speaker Henderson, have no very extended circle of acquaintances in Washington society, although they have practically lived in Washington for about twenty years and the young lady was educated entirely in our schools, and might have gone anywhere they pleased. They are not society women, in the general acceptance of the term, because they have not desired to be, and the new honor given to Colonel Henderson is not likely to alter their mode of life any more than it did that of Mrs. Reed, and her daughter, who had the same antipathy of living a society life, although always performing all the social duties belonging to their positions. Miss Belle Henderson is an intelligent girl, with a taste for literature and music; she has a tall and graceful figure, beautiful blue eyes, and a complexion that must be a source of continual joy to her, and she especially enjoys entertaining small gatherings of intimate friends.

McKinley and Root.

This Ticket Likely to be Named by Acclamation.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 12.—A Washington dispatch to the Leader says:

In the light of information that has been gathered within the last three days from contact with leaders in politics it may be stated almost without qualification that the Republican national ticket next year will be McKinley and Root. That the President will be renominated there has been no doubt for a long time. As to the nomination for Vice President, the sentiment in favor of Elihu Root, the Secretary of War, which became apparent several months ago, has assumed proportions which, in the opinion of men who are masters in the art of politics, practically insures his being given second place on the ticket. Careful, conservative men such as Henry C. Payne are known to be, do not hesitate at this time to predict Mr. Root's nomination for the Vice Presidency by the Republican party next year. Mr. Payne said this evening:

"If I were prophesying on the ticket I would say it will be McKinley and Root. Although I am a Western man, I can see reasons which admit of no argument for the Vice Presidential nomination going to an Eastern man. It seems to be conceded generally that New York ought to produce him. Mr. Root would give the strength, firmness and prestige to the ticket which other men would not do, and which are needed. He has made a splendid record for himself as the head of the War Department, and is in every way fitted for the place which Mr. Hobart graced."

That Mr. Root is willing to go on the ticket with Mr. McKinley there is not the slightest doubt. It may be said even that the Secretary is ambitious to procure the Vice Presidential nomination; in fact, it is known that he has aspirations of that character. He is perhaps better equipped for the place than almost any other New York man who has been mentioned in this connection. It is believed that he would be acceptable to Senator Platt, who, by the way, was largely instrumental in having him appointed Secretary of the War Department in the Cabinet. When Mr. Platt was asked tonight who he favored for the Vice Presidential nomination he said:

"Any good New York man would suit me."

"How about Mr. Root?"

"Mr. Root would be satisfactory," was Mr. Platt's reply. "McKinley will be nominated by acclamation."

As to the matter of nominating the entire ticket by acclamation, there is reason to believe that the next Republican convention will establish such a precedent. Senator Hanna has conceived the idea and it is remarkable how favorably it is being received. The Senator has confided his proposition to a few friends and they are enthusiastic over it. Mr. Hanna believes that, inasmuch as McKinley will be renominated in that manner, his running mate should be accorded the same distinction. He said tonight:

"It seems to me that a contest in the convention for the vice presidency should be avoided for the reason chiefly that President McKinley will be named for the first place without opposition. The nomination for second place, under the circumstances, should be made, in my opinion, with the same absence of friction and contest. If we could go before the country with a ticket chosen in such a way, the effect upon the party throughout the United States, and upon the people of all parties would be most marked. The action of the convention would be received with eclat and the Republicans would start in at the very beginning

DEAL WITH THE SULTAN

Details of Gen. Bates' Agreement.

POLYGAMY NOT IN IT

Americans Get Everything in Sight and Get it Dirt Cheap, Sultan and All.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—The following is the text of the agreement between General Bates and the sultan of Jolo, better known as the Jolo treaty, which has been sent to the senate by the president:

Agreement between Brigadier-General John C. Bates, representing the United States, of the one part, and his highness, the sultan of Jolo, the Dato Rajah Muda, the Dato Atik Atie Dato Calbi, and the Dato Joakanain, of the other part, it being understood that this agreement will be in full force only when approved by the governor general of the Philippine islands and confirmed by the president of the United States, and will be subject to future modifications by the mutual consent of the parties in interest:

Article 1. The sovereignty of the United States over the whole archipelago of Jolo and its dependencies is declared and acknowledged.

Article 2. The United States flag will be used in the archipelago of Jolo and its dependencies, on land and sea.

Article 3. The rights and dignities of his highness, the sultan, and his datus, shall be fully respected; the Moros shall not be interfered with on account of their religion; all their religious customs shall be respected, and no one shall be persecuted on account of his religion.

Article 4. While the United States may occupy and control such points in the archipelago of Jolo as public interests seem to demand, encroachment will not be made upon the lands immediately about the residence of his highness, the sultan, unless military necessity requires such occupation in case of war with a foreign power, and where the property of individuals is taken, due compensation will be made in each case. Any person can purchase land in the archipelago of Jolo and hold the same by obtaining the consent of the sultan and coming to a satisfactory agreement with the owner of the land, and such purchase shall immediately be registered in the proper office of the United States Government.

Article 5. All trade in domestic products of the archipelago of Jolo, when carried on by the sultan and his people with any part of the Philippine islands, and when conducted under the American flag, shall be free, unlimited and undisturbed.

Article 6. The sultan of Jolo shall be allowed to communicate direct with the governor general of the Philippine islands in making complaint against the commanding officer of Jolo, or against any naval commander.

Article 7. The introduction of firearms and war material is forbidden, except under specific authority of the governor general of the Philippine islands.

Article 8. Piracy must be suppressed and the sultan and his datus agree to heartily co-operate with the United States authorities to that end and to make every possible effort to arrest and bring to justice all persons engaged in piracy.

Article 9. Where crimes and offenses are committed by Moros against Moros the government of the sultan will bring to trial and punishment the criminals and offenders who will be delivered to the government of the Sultan by the United States authorities if in their possession. In all other cases persons charged with crimes or offenses will be delivered to the United States authorities for trial and punishment.

Article 10. Any slave in the archipelago of Jolo shall have the right to purchase freedom by paying to the master the usual market value.

Article 11. In case of any trouble with subjects of the sultan the American authorities in the island will be instructed to make careful investigation before resorting to harsh measures, as in most cases serious trouble can thus be avoided.

Article 12. At present, Americans of foreigners wishing to go into the country should state their wishes to the Moro authorities and ask for an escort, but it is hoped that this will become unnecessary as we know each other better.

Article 13. The United States will give full protection to the sultan and his subjects in case any foreign nation should attempt to impose upon them.

Article 14. The United States will not sell the island of Jolo or any other island of the Jolo archipelago to any foreign nation without the consent of the sultan of Jolo.

Article 15. The United States government will pay the following monthly salaries (Mexican dollars):

To the sultan	$250 00
To Dato Rajah Muda	75 00
To Dato Atik	60 00
To Dato Calbi	75 00
To Dato Joakanain	75 00
To Dato Puyo	60 00
To Dato Amir Hussin	60 00
To Hadji Butu	50 00
To Habib Mura	40 00
To Serif Saguni	15 00

Signed in triplicate in English and Sulu, at Jolo, this 20th day of August, A. D. 1899 (Arabul Ahil, 1317).

J. C. BATES.

Brigadier General United States Volunteers.

SULTAN OF JOLO,
DATO RAJAH MUDA,
DATO ATTIK,
DATO CALBI,
DATO JOAKANAIN.

BAND ENTERTAINED.

The Members are Guests of Minister Mott-Smith.

Minister Mott-Smith entertained the members of the Hawaiian band with a luau at his residence on Friday afternoon. No previous announcement of the affair had been made, and no formal invitations had been issued, but the luau proved to be very enjoyable in all respects. Two tables set under the trees were laden with refreshments peculiar to Hawaii, including fish and fowl, excellent poi, cake and other delicacies. Liquids were not overlooked, Colonel McCarthy having presented the band with a generous supply.

Speeches were made by several persons present. Mr. Mott-Smith said he was proud to have a band in the band's affairs, for ever since its organization, thirty years ago, it had been a most worthy institution. He was proud, also, he said, to be his father's son, for the elder Mott-Smith, as a member of Kamehameha's Cabinet was very instrumental in organizing the band. Mr. Mott-Smith said he hoped that whatever became of Hawaii nei, the band should be maintained as a public institution for everybody's benefit. The Minister then drank to the health of the band, and his toast was responded to by Captain Berger, who, in the course of his remarks, expressed appreciation of the liberal support that had been given to the band. Captain Berger spoke feelingly concerning his connection with the band and the high regard he felt for the members.

David Naone, sergeant of the band, and its oldest member, having joined in 1870, expressed thanks to Minister Mott-Smith, as also did Charles Kreuter, who spoke in behalf of the foreign portion of the band. Jose Gomez spoke for the Portuguese members, and John Colburn, the youngest member, proposed aloha to the host. After singing "Aloha Oe," all standing, the guests accepted the invitation of Minister Mott-Smith to indulge in billiards and other games, ending with a smoker.

MONSIEUR MARSDEN.

The Surprising Change in the Agricultural Commissioner.

Joe Marsden has come back to astonish the natives with two things—his opal and diamond pin and his French. Of the two possessions the pin is a trifle more elegant but not quite so much in evidence. Joe has become a spouting geyser of French and it is a forgetful day when he does not say something about "Paree" and remark "Merde!" and "Eh Bien!" "Yes," said the genial ex-Commissioner of Agriculture, "when I was last in Paree I found the catch on this opal pin most acceptable. I recall an evening during the carnival when I was surrounded by coquettes who were throwing confetti in my face. They almost smothered me when suddenly I felt a tug at my opal. 'Ah ma chere,' said I to the nearest one, 'sauve qui peut,' and she did without delay. I think it was sauve qui peut I said; anyhow the girl ran off. Ma foi, but it was a narrow escape. I called a gendarme and we made a tour de force but the coquette had vanished, a la Francaise."

It is understood that Major Potter talks as much as possible with Monsieur Marsden nowadays so as to get ready for his trip to Paree.

New Meat Prices.

The Metropolitan Meat Company has issued a new price list of meats, which will come into operation with the new year. Following are the principal changes made: Advances: Beef, shoulder roasts 4½ cents, and boiling pieces (fresh and corned) 1 cent per pound; veal, loin and fillet and cutlets, 3 cents; rib roasts 2½ cents per pound. Declines: Mutton, neck and breast 2 cents per pound; pork, roast ribs and loin 2 cents; legs (fresh or corned) 3 cents. Corned pork 5 cents per pound. Lamb will in future be charged at from 18 to 20 cents per pound and not by the quarter as before. Several changes have also been made in miscellaneous small meats.
